Drafted Army Will Be Called By September

Expected To Be Organized When Cantonments Are Completed

Speed Main Aim Of Local Boards

Their Primary Purpose Is to Pick Men, Not to Exempt, Says Crowder

Washington, July 25 .- Preparations for actual mobilization of the National Army went ahead here to-day, while the local selection boards in many parts of the country began summoning for xamination the men who will compose

There are numerous details to be worked out before those summoned can be actually transferred to the military establishment and be sent to their training cantonments. It is believed, however, that a large number will have been finally selected and will be awaiting the call to the colors before August 1.

The entire force will be ready, with the exception probably of a few disputed cases, by the time the sixteen cantonments are ready, early in Sep-

Local Boards Are Selection Boards Provost Marshal General Crowder, under whose jurisdiction the selective draft men will remain until they are transferred to the books of the adjutant general as soldiers, pointed out to-day that the local boards actually are selection, not exemption, boards. Their primary purpose, he said, was to select from registered men those qualified for military service. The men they turn away after examination will be rejected, rather than exempted, be-cause of physical disability or depend-cause of physical disability of dependents.

The exemption boards proper are the district boards, which have power to say whether the work a man is doing at home will be more important to the government than his services as a soldier.

Information reaching Washington indicates that the selection boards are taking the view of their work that makes that name fitting for their they are bent on finding men for army in the shortest possible time. When they certify any man to the higher here are bent on finding men for a ring in the shortest possible time. When they certify any man to the higher boards as held for service, the man becomes a soldier and subject to soldier law. It will be the duty of the provost marshal general from that time on to see that he complies with all army orders affecting him, and also to turn him over to the army authorities when he is called to the colors.

The quotas from the various districts prebably will be assembled first at their district headquarters when the call comes. Whether they will be turned over to an army officer there and taken to their cantonments or whether one of their number will be placed in charge to conduct them to the cantonment has not been decided.

No information has reached General Crowder indicating that there will be any need to summon a second draft in addition to the 687,000 men now called for during 1917. General Crowder said he had understood the draft machinery would not need to be employed again during the present year, although it will be kept intact.

With physical examinations actually in progress, the record of the draft

With physical examinations actually in progress, the record of the draft during the Civil War becomes interesting. At that time 25.77 per cent of the men called up were rejected for physical defects. There is no reason to expect, it is said, any material increase in that factor.

Exemptions for industrial or similar reasons, as well as exemptions because of dependent relatives, enter an unexplored field. Until a ratle for this is worked out in practice in several typiplored field. Until a ratle for this is worked out in practice in several typical communities and worked up into an average figure no definite forecast of the probable number of men who will pass through the draft machinery to obtain the 687,000 soldiers can be given.

Seek to Naturalize Aliens

Members of various exemption boards in checking over the lists of registrants in their districts declared that there were so many aliens in their districts that it was doubtful whether the quota for the first call could be raised from the citizens.

It was arged that the board members talk with registered aliens and impress on them the advantages of being cit-izens, so that when the next draft comes they will not be exempt.
